Attempt to Hold Up a Train in Broad Daylight.

A Clever Trick Played by Engiheer and Fireman.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 27. Indian Agent Wisdom and ex-Indian Agent Bennett have arrived from the bandic infested part of the territory. At Wagoner they were notified that the freight train just ahead of them had been fired into near Bragg station which is thirty miles east of Wagoner. Investigation proved the report to be true. Seven men mounted on horses armed to the teeth undertook to hold up the train in broad daylight, but the engineer and fireman lay down in the can and let the train go ahead. A volley of bullets was fired at the cab and as the caboose went by that also was fired into and riddled with bullets. The bandils sat on their horses on the other. The train went through without molestation.

Expect the Gold Will Be Returned Treasury officials expect that most of the gold withdrawn from the sub-treasury at New York during the past two weeks by firms and banks, aggregating in round figures $4,500,000, now that the entire issue of bonds has been awarded to the Stewart syndicate, will be returned to the treasury. These firms and banks withdrew the gold in anticipation that they would be successful bidders.

AN EMPHATIC DENIAL

Regarding Prohibiting Scaling Next Season.

Nrw York, Nov. 27. An Ottawa, Ottawa,
Ottawa, Special says: Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Matthe, glvos emphatic denial to the report that Great Britain has reported favorably regarding the probibling of scaling next season. He says that if any move of that kind was on, Canada would have been consulted, but not a word has been heard by the Dominion Government on the subject
The idea was an absord one and Canada would not give her consent to such a proposal. Had the United States entertained the reasonable proposal we made, says Sir Charles, the seal fisheries would have suffered far less than they are likely to do under the present regulations. We saw the danger of depletion through a wrong idea of what the close season should be.

The board promptly rejected Judge Waddill, suggestion to send the returns back to the local boards so as to have incorporated in them a statement of the number of ballots thrown out and for whom cast. Charges of gross frauds were made, but the board declined to receive the charges or to receive a protest, as its duties were purely ministerial. The board decided to issue certificates to the nine Demograts and one cates to the nine Democrats and one Republican shown by the official figures Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Stock Lost by Illinois Farmers. SPRINGELED, Ill., Nov. 27. Hog choices is eausing constornation among all the farmers of Central Illinois. The long drouth, together with impure food and a scarolty of the same, is given as the cause and nothing seems to be at hand that will stop the epidemic. Not a county in the central portion of Illinois has escaped from the disease. The new method of inoculation has been tried successfully in La Salle and one or two other counties. Nearly every hog so inoculated has escaped death. THE CASE OF FELLOWS.

What the Alleged Charges Contain Albany, N. Y., Nov. 27 Col. J. P. Fellows, District Attorney of New York county, accompanied by his counsel, Delos McCurdy, arrived at the executive mansion at ten o'clock this morning. Col Williams, the Goyernor's private secretary told the United Press representative/a few minutes later that there would he no public hearing of the charges against Fellows as yet. The accusers and the counsel for Col. Fellows would say what they had to say to the Governor informally, and anything for the public would be given out by the Governor later on.

McCurdy, as counsel for the District Attorney, presented a written answer to each charge made by the committee of five of the Good Government Club of New York City.

The charges allege that he has been negligent in bringing twelve murder cases to trial. Mr Fellows' answer denies this at length and embraces a chronological record of each case. It shows that nearly half of the cases arose during the terms of previous district attorneys. Col. Fellows' answer, it was learned, also includes affidavits from counsel of the prisoners in nearly every case showing that noy delays in prose-

Acts Vs Words Oh typer President Cleveland poses a s great civil service reformer, but when the record of his two administrations is examined it will be found in the language of the late George William Curtis, that he has made a practically clean sweep of the offices for partisan purposes It is only a few days since the Boston Herald was shouting the praises of Uliveland on account of a proposed extension of the civil service rules, but this means that he is aiming to first all the offices with Democrats and then un tempt to keep his appointers on the pay roll of the government. The insincerny of his professions ha recently been manifested in Washington A few weeks ago, Mr Cleveland, forgetting conveniently his civil service thed ries, appointed as postmaster in Washington a prominent Democratic politician The appointment was a very good one from a political point of view, and the new official will probably be as competent and efficient as such appointees usually are.

The new postmuster, Mr. Willett, had scarcely gotten warm in his new berth before he made changes in the branch offices in the district. Among these changes was the removal of Mrs. Black ford, the postmistress at Georgetown which is now the West End of Washington. This lady had been postmistress there for some four teen years, and had given the very highest satisfaction. The removal was made in order to install a Democratic politician in this $1500 place If Mr. Cleveland were hones in his civil service professions he would not permit a removal of this sort.

In the year ending June 30, 1804, there had been appointed 23,166 postmusters. of which 8,000 were classed as "removals." This was out of a total of 69,000 norti agent, . . Bangor Me. offices. These removals and changes were for the most past undoubtedly in violation of the spirit of civil service re-form, yet there was no hesitation on the part of Mr. Cleveland to make appointpart of Mr. Cleveland to make appointnents on political grounds

The extension of the operations of the civil service law, which is now contem-plated, and which it is expected will take place before M: Cleveland retires from office, is altogether in the line of making places for the fuends of the party in power It is not supposed for a noment that Mr. Cleveland is actuated by any real sympathy for civil service te-form or belief in the doctrine. He sees in the power cutiusted to him of extending the operations of the law a chance to keep Democrats in office and prevent We merit with its consorts, the gun-bouts t and s, t and s, t and t to t t t and t and any appointments. Boston, Nov. 27. Fire occurred at the Western Union Telegraph Company's main office on State street to-night and caused complete suspension of business, although the pecuniary loss to the company will be comparatively small.

It was about 19 30 p m. when Fire Chief Clinch who was on the third Boot happened to notice a reflection of light on the building in the rear of the Western Union office and opening a window he proceeded to climb the rickety from itr escape to investigate

When he reached the edge of the roof it needed but a glanch to tell him that the large cupols, through which 300 or more wires enter the building, and the buge cross arms close by were burning flexely. Hurrying down stairs he gave the alarm to members of the night force at work in the operating rooms, some thirty or more in number.

In short order every man found his way to the street and although the exit was burnedly made there was no semblance of a punic. Meanwhile the bell alarm was sounded and the engines were soon at work. For a time the fire lighted the heavens in a threatening manner and many believed that the building was doomed but the firemen kept the flames confined to the cupola and roof atthough the rest of the building was liberally wet down.

THE FIRE INQUEST.

The Jury Bringe in a Verdict that the Fire at Stetson was incendiary. Sheriff W. F. Reed returned lust even ing from Stetson, where the advourged tire inquest was held Monday. It will be remembered that the buildings of C W. Wentworth were destroyed several weeks ago and it was thought that the fire was of incondiary origin. In response to a petition Sheriff Reed sumnoned a jury and held an inquest, hesinning two weeks ago and adjourned to ast Monday

On that day some additional testimony was taken and the entire testimony was eviewed. The jury brought in a verdict Monday evening that in Its belief the fire was caused by an incendiary unknown to the jury. Mr. Wentworth has begun to erect new buildings in the place of those Bar to that of the previous evening with which were burned

CAN FAT BE FED INTO MILK?

Farmers and Experimenters Disagree.

The Maine Farmer says On the questions of the control of th tion whether the proportion of cream can be lororased by Judicious feeding, there seems ever to be a conflict of opinion between farmers and experimenters. Farmers know it can be done—have done it time and again, while on the other hand scientific investigators have proved by repeated trials that it cannot be done. Here is a square contradiction of juthorities. We take sides with the farmer, for we are one of them, and doing business after their methods for many years, have at times concluded that, like others, we have learned something positive from experience, though without the assistance of a chemist's teste or the delicately adjusted balance. Of course a furner knows it when he takes a cow and by judicious feeding and diligent can brings her up to give richer milk than he formerly drew from her so, too, the experiencer, when he takes a cow and puts her through feeding perieds on radically different fodders without change in the quality or, her milk, he knows it. It is unjust for the livestigator to dispute the experience of the farmer, for we had many feeding who know how to make a cow give a liberal flow of rich milk, or to grow a steer rapidly, hefore a government experiment station was ever established I has is no criticism on the stations, for they have already one a great work in developing the ecience involved in feeding, and especially in extending a knowledge lof how to do it. On the other hand, there seems to be no disposition on the part of the farmer to dispute the results reached by the farmer to dispute the results reached by the farmer in the great and complicated problem of milk production. The fact is, they are both sound in their conclusions. The reason of the wide discrepancy between them is that an important factor in this great and complicated problem of milk production is lost sight of. This factor is The feed is not lovariably and in full represented by the milk product, or, conversely, the milk paridact, or, conversely, the milk farmished.
